BSO Music Director Andris Nelsons returns to Boston January 8-17 to lead the Boston Symphony Orchestra in two weeks of programs, kicking off the second half of the orchestra’s 2014-15 season and showcasing his interpretations of works from the heart of the Austro-Hungarian Classical and Romantic repertoire. The concerts will include music by Mozart, Haydn, Brahms, Bruckner, and Strauss and explore the evolution of this great musical tradition from the late 18th century to just before the turn of the 20th. On the January 8-10 program, the young French cellist Gautier Capuçon and BSO principal violist Steven Ansell play the starring roles in Strauss’s dazzling tone poem Don Quixote. The following week, German pianist Lars Vogt joins the BSO and its music director for Mozart’s Piano Concerto No. 24 in C Minor, K. 491, one of the composer’s many great works in the genre, written for his own performance in Vienna.

ANDRIS NELSONS AND THE BSO, JANUARY 8, 9, AND 10

Boston Symphony Orchestra Music Director Andris Nelsons takes the podium January 8-10 to begin the spring half of the BSO’s 2014-15 season with a program of music by Brahms, Haydn, and Strauss. The opening work, Brahms’s Variations on a Theme by Haydn, was intended as a tribute to the great Classical composer—although current scholars now believe the tune on which Brahms based his variations was not actually written by Haydn. Brahms’s homage is followed by a work that certainly was written by Haydn, the Symphony No. 90, which emerged shortly before the composer’s more famous “London” symphonies but nonetheless is one of his finest and most elegant creations. Concluding the program is Strauss’s tone poem Don Quixote, featuring cellist Gautier Capuçon and BSO principal violist Steven Ansell as soloists.

ANDRIS NELSONS AND THE BSO, JANUARY 15, 16, AND 17

Distinguished German pianist Lars Vogt joins the Boston Symphony Orchestra and Music Director Andris Nelsons January 15-17 as soloist in Mozart’s Piano Concerto No. 24 in C minor, K. 491, the composer’s most generously scored work in the genre and one of only two in a minor key. Following the Mozart on these concerts is Bruckner’s Symphony No. 7, one of Mr. Nelsons’ favorite works in the Austro-German symphonic repertoire. The only one of Bruckner’s symphonies to achieve real popular success during his lifetime, the Seventh became the composer’s monument to his hero Wagner, who died in 1883 during the symphony’s composition.

ANDRIS NELSONS MULTIMEDIA EXHIBIT AT SYMPHONY HALL

A multimedia display will be installed in Symphony Hall to provide BSO fans with a kaleidoscope of information about new BSO Music Director Andris Nelsons.

The exhibit will be highlighted by a hologram of Maestro Nelsons, who will speak to the audience about his musical values. Maestro Nelsons himself will also attend the opening of the multimedia display on Tuesday, January 6 at 5:30 p.m., which is open to the public. The exhibit will be open to the public on Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Saturdays 10-5 p.m. in addition to during all evening concerts. The exhibit will also contain several video screens with thematic content including a "Boston Welcomes Andris" video featuring backstage and behind-the-scenes clips, interviews, press conferences, and concert footage edited together to tell the story of excitement surrounding Andris’ appointment as BSO Music Director.
The multimedia exhibit will also feature a loop of the acclaimed documentary Genius on Fire, podcasts, promotional video from the new BSO Sibelius and Wagner CD, various professional interviews and footage from concerts this season and from Tanglewood including a piece which aired on CNN International in December, an iPad trivia contest about Andris Nelsons, and a display of Andris' memorabilia and press clippings. The new display will run until January 30, 2015.

EDUCATIONAL INITIATIVES AT SYMPHONY HALL

As part of the BSO’s ongoing initiative to enhance its patrons’ awareness and knowledge of the music being performed, the Boston Symphony Orchestra continues to offer a variety of adult education initiatives at Symphony Hall for the 2014-15 season.

UnderScore Fridays is a uniquely formatted concert series. At all Friday-evening performances, members of the BSO introduce the concerts from the stage. Selected concerts also include comments from the stage by guest artists appearing in the program. Tickets for UnderScore Fridays range from $32 to $130.

“BSO 101: Are You Listening?” returns in 2014-15. In this popular Wednesday-evening series, BSO Director of Program Publications Marc Mandel is joined by members of the Boston Symphony Orchestra for presentations designed to enhance one’s listening abilities and general appreciation of music by focusing on works from the BSO’s repertoire. No prior musical training, or attendance at any previous session, is required, since each session is self-contained. “BSO: 101: An Insider’s View” also returns in 2014-15, offering three Tuesday-evening sessions focusing on behind-the-scenes activities at Symphony Hall with BSO musicians and administrative staff, including player perspectives on performing with the orchestra. All “BSO 101” sessions take place from 5:30-6:45 p.m. at Symphony Hall, and each is followed by a reception. Though the “BSO 101” sessions are free, please note that there is a nominal charge for the reception. Full details of the 2014-15 “BSO 101” schedule will be announced at a later date.

The popular Friday Preview Talks continue to take place from 12:15-12:45 p.m. before each Friday-afternoon subscription concert; the Symphony Hall doors open at 11:30am. Given by BSO Director of Program Publications Marc Mandel, Assistant Director of Program Publications Robert Kirzinger, and occasional guest speakers, these informative half-hour talks incorporate recorded examples from the music to be performed. The BSO also offers talks before each of the season’s four Thursday-morning Open Rehearsals at Symphony Hall. These take place from 9:30-10 a.m. The Symphony Hall doors open at 9 a.m., and the Open Rehearsal itself begins at 10:30 a.m. Admission to the Friday Preview Talks and Open Rehearsal Talks is free of charge to ticket holders for the Friday-afternoon subscription concerts and Thursday-morning Open Rehearsals.
