Frequent guest conductor Charles Dutoit—who is continuing a close, multi-season collaboration with the Boston Symphony Orchestra—returns to the Symphony Hall podium for two programs celebrating his 80th birthday October 20-29. For the first week of concerts, October 20-25, Mr. Dutoit and the BSO are joined by cellist Yo-Yo Ma for an all-British program centered on Elgar’s four-movement Cello Concerto. The program also includes Walton’s Portsmouth Point Overture—a piece the BSO hasn’t performed in 50 years—and The Planets, Holst’s vivid, ever-exciting musical journey through the solar system. Charles Dutoit then conducts the BSO and soloists in Bartók’s one-act opera Bluebeard’s Castle, based on Charles Perrault’s dark fairy tale of Duke Bluebeard, October 27-29. Maestro Dutoit and the orchestra open the program with Mozart’s Symphony No. 39, one of the composer’s final three symphonies.
CHARLES DUTOIT, YO-YO MA, AND THE BSO, OCTOBER 20-25
Performances take place Thursday, October 20, Saturday, October 22, and Tuesday, October 25, at 8 p.m., and Friday, October 21, at 1:30 p.m.
At the heart of Charles Dutoit’s first of two programs with the BSO, international superstar cellist Yo-Yo Ma joins the orchestra for Edward Elgar’s substantial and episodic Cello Concerto, the composer’s most popular work and one of the most successful works for cello and orchestra in the repertoire. Displaying passages of both Elgar’s well-known extroverted passion and more inward-looking, contemplative music, it is a complex and layered masterpiece. The program of works by three 20th-century English composers opens with William Walton’s Portsmouth Point Overture, a vibrant and jazzy early work inspired by a print of colorful activity at a seaport. Written between 1914 and 1916, Gustav Holst’s astrologically inspired The Planets is by far his most enduringly popular work, a series of orchestrally rich character pieces, from fleet Mercury to bellicose Mars to mysterious Neptune.

CHARLES DUTOIT, ILDIKÓ KOMLÓSI, MATTHIAS GOERNE, AND THE BSO, OCTOBER 27-29
Performances take place Thursday, October 27, and Saturday, October 29, at 8 p.m.; and Friday, October 28, at 1:30 p.m.
To open the second week of programs celebrating Mr. Dutoit’s 80th birthday, the maestro and the BSO perform Mozart’s grand and capricious Symphony No. 39, the first of the composer’s transcendent final three symphonies, all pinacles of the great composer’s career, the Classical period, and the entire symphonic repertoire. The remainder of the program is filled by Bartók’s grim, haunting opera Bluebeard’s Castle. The hour-long work, sung in Hungarian, tells the story of Duke Bluebeard (baritone Matthias Goerne) and his new wife Judith (Hungarian mezzo-soprano Ildikó Komlósi in her BSO debut), who arrives at the duke’s castle for the first time and, despite Bluebeard’s warnings, slowly opens a series of seven locked doors, each of which illuminates an aspect of her husband’s mysterious past. Although not often performed in the opera house because of its relatively short length, Bluebeard’s Castle is considered one of the 20th century’s greatest operas.

Educational Initiatives at Symphony Hall
As part of the BSO’s ongoing initiative to enhance its patrons’ awareness and knowledge of the music being performed, the Boston Symphony Orchestra continues to offer a variety of adult education initiatives at Symphony Hall for the 2016-17 season.

This season will continue the popular “Casual Fridays” program, which encourages both patrons and the orchestra to come dressed in comfortable clothing. The three evening “Casual Friday” concerts in September, February, and March will feature both a pre-concert reception and post-concert reception with live music until midnight. The evening will incorporate a technology component to engage audiences with content related to the evening’s performance.

BSO 101 returns in 2016–17, again offering the opportunity to increase your enjoyment of BSO concerts. These free Wednesday sessions with BSO Director of Program Publications Marc Mandel joined by members of the BSO are designed to enhance your listening abilities and appreciation of music by focusing on upcoming BSO repertoire. In addition, each session is followed by a free tour of Symphony Hall. Dates and more information will be provided in your Subscription Package, and at bso.org in the fall. RSVPs for the BSO 101 sessions will not be accepted until the fall. Visit bso.org for details. Full details of the 2016-17 “BSO 101” schedule will be announced at a later date.
The popular Friday Preview Talks continue to take place from 12:15-12:45 p.m. before each Friday-afternoon subscription concert; the Symphony Hall doors open at 11:30 a.m. Given by BSO Director of Program Publications Marc Mandel, Assistant Director of Program Publications Robert Kirzinger, and occasional guest speakers, these informative half-hour talks incorporate recorded examples from the music to be performed. The BSO also offers talks before each of the season’s four Thursday-morning Open Rehearsals at Symphony Hall. These take place from 9:30-10 a.m. The Symphony Hall doors open at 9 a.m., and the Open Rehearsal itself begins at 10:30 a.m. Admission to the Friday Preview Talks and Open Rehearsal Talks is free of charge to ticket holders for the Friday-afternoon subscription concerts and Thursday-morning Open Rehearsals.
