BSO Associate Conductor Ken-David Masur leads four very special performances Thursday, October 19-Tuesday, October 24 of the incidental music Edvard Grieg wrote for Henrik Ibsen’s play Peer Gynt, last performed in its complete form by the BSO in 1985, conducted by Mr. Masur’s father, Kurt. These concerts feature a new stage adaptation of the work by director Bill Barclay, set designer Cristina Todesco, and costume designer Kathleen Doyle, the team behind the BSO’s concert-staged performances of Mendelssohn’s A Midsummer Night’s Dream in January 2016. In addition to Mr. Masur and the orchestra, the adaptation will feature soprano Camilla Tilling and a cast of actors, including Daniel Berger-Jones, Caroline
Kinsolving, Georgia Lyman, Risher Reddick, Bobbie Steinbach, and Will Lyman; as well as the Tanglewood Festival Chorus, James Burton, conductor. To open the program, Mr. Masur leads the orchestra in Beethoven’s incidental music to Egmont, featuring Camilla Tilling and Will Lyman.

Mr. Masur was recently appointed BSO Associate Conductor beginning with the BSO’s 2017-18 season, following three seasons as BSO Assistant Conductor.

PROGRAM DETAILS
Extremely popular and well-known in the context of the two concert suites the composer constructed later, Grieg’s incidental music to Ibsen’s Peer Gynt—written at the playwright’s request—has rarely been heard in its original, complete form; the complete score was lost for more than a century. Ibsen’s play documents the adventures of the rough, rustic, negligent, and occasionally criminal poet and rakish rambler Peer Gynt—among them kidnapping his erstwhile fiancée, encountering the Mountain King, and begetting a son by the king’s daughter, traveling in North Africa, and sidestepping the Devil. A sprawling and episodic work divided into more than 25 movements, the complete Peer Gynt is animated with boundless energy and overflows with memorable melody and distinctive, vibrantly colorful orchestration. Among its best-known musical moments are the “Morning Mood” and “In the Hall of the Mountain King.”

Beethoven’s incidental music to Egmont has an equally distinguished source of inspiration, composed in 1809 for the overdue Vienna premiere of Goethe’s play (1787), which tells of the Flemish Count Egmont’s refusal to relinquish his ideal of freedom in his struggle against the tyrannical Duke of Alba—a scenario that aligns with Beethoven’s democratic ideals and which reads, with its failed rescue attempt by Egmont’s mistress, like a tragic version of the events in the composer’s opera Fidelio. The level of inspiration these ideas and ideals aroused in Beethoven is obvious as his incidental music contains some of his most rousing and noble writing, qualities that are immediately clear from the work’s well-known overture, which has become a popular freestanding concert piece.

Educational Initiatives at Symphony Hall

As part of the BSO’s ongoing initiative to enhance its patrons’ awareness and knowledge of the music being performed, the Boston Symphony Orchestra continues to offer a variety of adult education initiatives at Symphony Hall for the 2017-18 season.

This season will continue the popular “Casual Fridays” program, which encourages both patrons and the orchestra to come dressed in comfortable clothing. The four evening “Casual Friday” concerts in on October 20, January 5, February 9, and April 6 will feature both a pre-concert reception and post-concert reception with live music until midnight. Each evening also features special Conductor Cam seating, which allows patrons to watch the conductor from the orchestra’s perspective on high definition screens.

BSO 101 returns in 2017-18, again offering the opportunity to increase your enjoyment of BSO concerts. These free Wednesday sessions with BSO Director of Program Publications Marc Mandel joined by members of the BSO are designed to enhance your listening abilities and appreciation of music by focusing on upcoming BSO repertoire. These sessions take place from 5:30-7 p.m. at Symphony Hall; in addition, each session is followed by a free 1/2 hour tour of Symphony Hall. Click here for more information.

The popular Friday Preview Talks continue to take place from 12:15-12:45 p.m. before each Friday-afternoon subscription concert; the Symphony Hall doors open at 11:30 a.m. Given by BSO Director of Program Publications Marc Mandel, Associate Director of Program Publications Robert Kirzinger, and occasional guest speakers, these informative half-hour talks incorporate recorded examples from the music to be performed. The BSO also offers talks before each of the season’s four Thursday-morning Open Rehearsals at Symphony Hall. These take place from 9:30-10 a.m. The Symphony Hall doors open at 9 a.m., and the Open Rehearsal itself begins at 10:30 a.m. Admission to the Friday Preview Talks and Open Rehearsal Talks is free of charge to ticket holders for the Friday-afternoon subscription concerts and Thursday-morning Open Rehearsals.

The BSO’s recently released tablet app—available on the iPad and Android tablets—offers users an array of concert-enhancing content, including program notes, audio podcasts and interviews with the musicians, and videos. The tablet app’s enhanced reality feature allows patrons to access additional content through image recognition software and beacons. Using the “discover what my camera sees” feature, patrons can point their tablet’s camera at certain landmarks around Symphony Hall to unlock audio and video content about the orchestra including biographical information about the BSO’s musicians and conductors. By using the “discover what is near me” feature, the tablet leverages beacons and push notifications to connect patrons’ tablet devices with content relevant specifically to different areas of Symphony Hall. The app also features an integrated social media experience, as well as a meme generator, allowing users to take a photo at Symphony Hall and post it as a meme to social media. Users can purchase single tickets or new subscriptions through the tablet app, save content to “my music,” and search for parking, dining, and lodging near Symphony Hall. The My Wallet feature keeps track of patrons’ ticket and purchase history, and allows users who’ve selected the “print at home” option to scan their tickets digitally when they arrive for a concert. The BSO’s tablet app is free and available for download and installation on iPad devices via the iTunes App Store. The BSO also offers an iPhone and Android app, which provides users with such new media content as concert program notes and multimedia video podcasts relating to specific concerts, as well as practical information including maps of Symphony Hall, details about available dining options, and a complete schedule of special events.
