Conductor John Storgårds brings music of his native Finland to Symphony Hall for four performances, Thursday, January 24—Tuesday, January 29. To open the concerts, Mr. Storgårds—who makes his BSO subscription series debut with these performances—leads the BSO in contemporary composer Kaija Saariaho’s Ciel d’hiver, (“Winter Sky”), a 2013 arrangement of the second movement from her larger orchestral work Orion and inspired by the stars in the winter sky. The second half of the program features Sibelius’s final two symphonies: the organically unfolding No. 6 and the remarkable, single-movement Seventh Symphony. Rounding out the program is the sole non-Finnish work—Mozart’s Piano Concerto No. 22 in E-flat, K.482, for which the orchestra is joined by German soloist Martin Helmchen.
PROGRAM DETAILS
Kaija Saariaho’s Orion was composed in 2002 and was inspired by the dual nature of its namesake: the adventurous mortal son of Neptune, god of the sea, who then became a luminous constellation after his death. The second movement, which is the basis for the arrangement Ciel d’hiver, focused on the latter aspect, painting a vivid picture of starlight, cascading down and illuminating the world with its understated, silvery glow. A masterful exploration of orchestral color, the piece calls for the quiet melodies to be passed among the instruments, calling attention to subtle variations of timbral shadings.

After Mozart finally escaped his oppressive employment in his native Salzburg and settled in Vienna in 1781, he spent several years establishing his reputation via concerts in which he performed his own piano concertos—each unique and innovative, each raising the bar for what the Viennese concertgoing public could hope to expect. The Piano Concerto No. 22, K.482, was written in 1785, the last year before Mozart transferred his focus from concert music back to opera, and the same year that Haydn wrote to Mozart’s father, saying “I tell you before God, and as an honest man, your son is the greatest composer known to me either in person or by reputation.”

The program concludes with Sibelius’s final two symphonies, which date from the end of his active composing career (though not his life). Of his Sixth Symphony, completed in 1923, Sibelius said, “[It] always reminds me of the scent of the first snow,” a quote that hints at the lifelong inspiration provided by nature and his native Finland. The Seventh Symphony, completed the following year, is perhaps Sibelius’s most original, groundbreaking work. Structured as a single movement and largely centered around the familiar keys of C major and C minor, it nonetheless provides endless variation and invention through its constantly shifting tempos and moods.

Educational Initiatives at Symphony Hall
As part of the BSO’s ongoing initiative to enhance its patrons’ awareness and knowledge of the music being performed, the Boston Symphony Orchestra continues to offer a variety of adult education initiatives at Symphony Hall for the 2018-19 season.

This season will continue the popular “Casual Fridays” program, which encourages both patrons and the orchestra to come dressed in comfortable clothing. The four evening “Casual Friday” concerts on November 2, February 22, January 11, and April 12 will feature both a pre-concert reception and post-concert reception with live music until midnight. Each evening also features special Conductor Cam seating, which allows patrons to watch the conductor from the orchestra’s perspective on high-definition screens. During the 2018-19 season, the BSO will continue to collaborate with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT) to offer concert attendees sitting in the Conductor Cam seats access to ConcertCue, an innovative app that presents contextual program notes and images on concert-goers’ mobile devices in real-time during the musical performance.

BSO 101 returns in 2018-19, again offering the opportunity to increase your enjoyment of BSO concerts. These free Wednesday sessions with BSO Director of Program Publications Marc Mandel and Associate Director of Program Publications Robert Kirzinger, joined by members of the BSO, are designed to enhance the audiences listening abilities and appreciation of music by focusing on upcoming BSO repertoire. These sessions take place from 5:30-7 p.m. at Symphony Hall; in addition, each session is followed by a free half-hour tour of Symphony Hall. Click here for more information.
The popular Friday Preview Talks continue to take place from 12:15-12:45 p.m. before each Friday-afternoon subscription concert; the Symphony Hall doors open at 11:30 a.m. Given by BSO Director of Program Publications Marc Mandel, Associate Director of Program Publications Robert Kirzinger, and occasional guest speakers, these informative half-hour talks incorporate recorded examples from the music to be performed. The BSO also offers talks before each of the season’s four Thursday-morning Open Rehearsals at Symphony Hall. These take place from 9:30-10 a.m. The Symphony Hall doors open at 9 a.m., and the Open Rehearsal itself begins at 10:30 a.m. Admission to the Friday Preview Talks and Open Rehearsal Talks is free of charge to ticket holders for the Friday-afternoon subscription concerts and Thursday-morning Open Rehearsals.

BSO Media Offerings

Food Services at Symphony Hall
The Boston Symphony Orchestra’s catering partner, Boston Gourmet, offers a fresh perspective on the food and beverage options offered at Symphony Hall before concerts, during intermission, and in the popular Symphony Café & Prelude Restaurant. Patrons enjoy the convenience of pre-concert dining at the Café and Prelude in the unique ambiance of historic Symphony Hall. Symphony Café offers buffet-style dinner from 5:30 p.m. until concert time for all evening Boston Symphony concerts. In addition, Symphony Café will be open for lunch at 11 a.m. prior to Friday-afternoon concerts. Prelude, the BSO’s newest dining experience, offers a delicious three-course prix fixe menu with elegant entrees and sensational flavors. Tables are available by reservation only, exclusively during Symphony season. The Café and Prelude are both located in Higginson Hall; near the Cohen Wing entrance on Huntington Avenue. Please call 617-638-9328 for reservations.

Additionally, casual pre-concert and intermission dining, including sandwiches, light appetizers, and desserts, is available at the snack bar outside the O’Block/Kay Room and Cabot-Cahners Room. Drink coupons, light appetizers, entrees, desserts, and packages that features an appetizer and half-bottle of wine can also be ordered on the BSO’s website at www.bso.org/dining. On the night of the concert, all pre-orders can be picked up at the Cabot-Cahners Room.

There are two lounges in Symphony Hall. The O’Block/Kay Room on the orchestra level and Cabot-Cahners Room on the first balcony level serve drinks starting one hour prior to each performance. For the Friday afternoon concerts, both rooms open at 11:00 a.m., with sandwiches available until concert time. Drink coupons may be purchased in advance online or through SymphonyCharge for all performances.

Symphony Hall Shop and Tours
The Symphony Shop, located in the Cohen Wing on Huntington Avenue, is open Thursdays and Saturdays from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m., and from one hour before concert time through intermission.
